1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-24 and 30-31, drawn to a shipping apparatus, classified in class 206, subclass 335.
 - II. Claims 25-27, drawn to a method of loading a motorcycle into a shipping container, classified in class 410, subclass 3.
 - III. Claims 28 and 29, drawn to a method of protecting a motorcycle loaded in a shipping container, classified in class 410, subclass 46.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of use such as a storage rack that is never loaded into another container for shipping, just used at one location.

3. Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of use such as a storage that is never loaded into another container for shipping, just used at one location.

4. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as a method of protecting a motorcycle stored on a rack not having wheels. Invention II has separate utility such as a method of loading a motorcycle stored on a rack without posts. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

7. A telephone call was made to Michael Hargis on January 25, 2005 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.
